PRESIDENT RETURNS TO FRANCE ABOUT MARCH 5

George Washington to Be Held in Readiness—Boston Prepares Record Reception For His Arrival There Monday.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, Feb. 21.—President Wilson will sail on his return trip to France about March 5, it was announced at the navy department today.

In a wireless message to the department, Commander McCauley, of the George Washington, stated that the vessel had given orders that the president be held in readiness for his return sailing from New York on about that date. The George Washington would arrive at Boston not later than noon on Monday, he added. The president, it was stated, would leave Boston Monday night, and be at work in the executive offices here on the following morning.

Boston, Feb. 21.—Six United States destroyers steamed out to sea today to give President Wilson his first welcome home and to escort to this port the steamship George Washington, on which the president and his party are returning from the peace conference. The six speedy fighting ships are the Gamble, Meredith, Harding, Paulding, Walker and Conyngham. They expected to reach the George Washington about five hundred miles off Cape Cod.

The presidential ship, which is due to arrive here on Monday, was reported today about 1,000 miles out steaming far ahead of her naval escort. Because of a slight accident to one of her turbines, the dreadnought New Mexico, heading the convoy, could make only half speed and was forced to drop behind, while the accompanying destroyer fleet was held back by the heavy seas. It is expected, however, that the latter will catch up with the George Washington before the destroyers that left here today reach her. The cruiser Denver also put to sea today to meet the George Washington.

When the president's boat arrives here it will anchor in President Roads. The presidential party will be transferred to the navy coast guard steamer Ossipee, aboard which will be Mayor Peters and Governor Coldridge and possibly other New England governors. The president will land at Common-wealth pier and then will begin the parade across the city to the Copley Plaza hotel in the Back Bay. The procession will move through solid lines of soldiers, sailors and marines. The welcome to the president is expected to be the noisiest and most spectacular ever accorded a distinguished visitor to New England.

This morning about 6 o'clock Ward Matthews, of No. 110, Downs street, started to go down cellar, and as the cellarway was dark he struck a match to light his way. A minute or so later while her husband was busy down cellar Mrs. Matthews heard a crackling noise as though paper was burning. Opening the door to the cellarway she saw that a pile of newspapers were on fire. She was badly burned about the hand and arm before the fire was finally extinguished. Government Seeks Accountants.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, Feb. 21.—The Government has some big tasks in accounting and auditing of its hands as a result of the war, and is willing to pay good salaries to men and women who are qualified to perform them. The Income Tax Unit of the Bureau of Internal Revenue, Treasury Department, is in urgent need of 250 traveling auditors and resident auditors for the higher-grade positions, which pay entrance salaries from $2,000 to $4,500 a year and many others are needed in other departments. Full information and application blanks may be obtained by calling upon the secretary of the local board of civil-service examiners at the customhouse or post office in any important city, or by communicating with the United States Civil Service Commission, Washington, D. C.

St. John's Men's Club.

This evening there will be a meeting of the St. John's Men's Club held in the parish house upstairs. Not only are the men who attend St. John's Church invited to join this club, but any man in the community who so desires will be welcomed as club members. The program for the club meetings includes games, refreshments and frequently an address. This evening the pastor, Rev. Leithen Williams, D. D., will speak on the "Possibility of an Open Forum," a question which should greatly interest all of our free, progressive men.

LAW COMPELS BOYS TO DRILL

Employers Cannot Keep Boys Who Do Not Present Clear Records For Attendance—Law Clothes Authorities with Power To Enforce Discipline.
If the boys who under the military training law are required to drill in the Armory each week with their assigned classes persist in staying away from the drills Sergeant Whitaker will enforce his authority under the law and will also go as far as to publish for the benefit of both parents and employers a list of the boys who, perhaps without realizing it, are breaking a state law. An example has been made of one high school boy which has eliminated a great deal of the trouble with the afternoon classes but if such conditions continue with the attendance at the Monday and Wednesday night classes there will be a penalty attached to the reprimand that has been leniently given several of the registrants by Sergeant Whitaker. Perhaps misunderstanding is responsible for some of the existing conditions and a list of the more important laws of the compulsory drilling will follow in this article. Few people of the city realize just what a hard job Sergeant Whitaker is up against in handling the boys who consider these drills a joke but the true meaning of this law will be made clear if the trouble does not cease soon. Last Wednesday night a large number of the class thought it more important to attend a dance than drill not realizing what a serious crime they were committing in breaking a law of the state of New York.
If the local commission desires to enforce their authority they are at liberty to have any boy discharged that does not attend the drills regularly and furthermore, no employer has any right to employ a boy who cannot show a clear record of attendance. The law connected with this phrase of the work is as follows:
Article 5-A—Boy above the age of 16 years and not over the age of 19 years, who does not possess a certificate issued as herein provided, showing that he is enrolled for military training and is meeting the requirements of the military training commission as to such military training, shall not be employed or continued in the employment by any person, firm or manager of a corporation within the state, or by any officer, superintendent or other employee acting in behalf thereof, unless such boy has been exempted by the commission under its rules and regulations. (As amended by L. 1917, ch. 49, and L. 1918, ch. 470, § 1.)
It must also be impressed upon the minds of the parents of the boys and the public at large that these drills are not only for the purpose of installing compulsory military training but are chiefly for the welfare of the young boy and man to more thoroughly prepare the boys of the elementary and secondary schools for the duties and obligations of citizenship. It has been arranged to have prominent men from the Rotary Club speak to the boys at drill on different subjects of interest to their future as men. Last Wednesday night the boys were given a talk on the care of their teeth by Dr. Carter of the Rotary Club. These addresses will continue for the benefit of the drillers and every boy can learn something to his advantage if he grasps it with the right spirit. It was partly through the military training that the night school was started for the young people who work during the day and it has proven that they will take an interest in the future of the boys do not respond to drill on the evenings of their respective classes.

SHIPYARD WORKERS WANT 8 HOUR DAY

At $4.80 Per Day—Wages Reduced From 60 Cents an Hour to 52 Cents—Local Union Telegraphs for Representative.
Following a meeting Thursday evening of the local Shipwright and Caulkers' Union, a telegram was sent to W. E. Hutchinson, president of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners, asking that a representative of the Brotherhood be sent to Kingston at once.
The local union workers want to work an eight hour day at 50 cents an hour, while the shipyard owners want the men to work ten hours at 52 cents an hour. At the meeting Thursday evening some of the union men claimed that they were being locked out when they refused to work ten hours. It is understood that the majority of the shipyard owners along the Rondout creek have decided to put in force a ten hour day at 52 cents an hour. One prominent builder stated this morning that as far as his yard was concerned it would be immaterial to him if the men took the month of March off or worked.
He further claimed that there was not a yard along the creek building barges that had a contract, but that they were building boats on speculation, trusting when the boat was launched to find a purchaser.
Today practically all of the yards are working, and whether work will be continued will depend on what action is taken when the representative of the Brotherhood reaches Kingston.
The telegram sent to President Hutchinson follows:
"Hurry man to Kingston, N. Y., at once. All yards have begun locking out men because they refuse to work ten hours. Also have reduced wages to 52 cents per hour. Immediate action needed."

CLEMENCEAU'S INJURIES APPROACH CRISIS

French Premier's Condition Reported Critical as Three Specialists Go Into Consultation—Temperature Higher and Embolism Feared.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Paris, Feb. 21.—(By wireless.)—Premier Clemenceau's condition is critical. Three of the most eminent specialists in Paris were summoned into consultation on his case today.
"Nothing can be said now," was the statement made after the first examination.
It was learned from an authoritative source that fears were felt that embolism would develop. It was embolism that caused the recent death of Theodore Roosevelt.
The patient's temperature rose today. This was taken to indicate that the crisis had already been reached and was near at hand.

TIDAL WAVE OF BOOZE FLOWS INTO MICHIGAN

As Court Decision Lets Down Bars--25,000 Whiskey Runners on Toledo-Detroit Highway--Three Dead--Legislature to Plug Hole.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Detroit, Feb. 21.—Defying and ignoring the fact that the United States government had taken a hand in the attempts to halt the importation of liquor into Michigan, the tidal wave of booze from Toledo to Detroit which has raged for three days and nights showed no signs of abatement today and hundreds of automobiles left early for the oasis in Ohio to bring in more of the joy producer. It is estimated that since the state supreme court decision which opened the flood gates to John Bartercorn on Tuesday was handed down, more than a half million gallons of whiskey has been brought into Michigan. Twenty-five thousand men, women and children are engaged in the rum running game and the "Dixie highway" between Toledo and this city has been re-christened the "Boulevard de Boozie." Thousands of automobiles make the round trip one to three times daily and every conceivable means of transportation is utilized in bringing the liquor into the state.
Police are making occasional arrests but the local courts refuse to hear the cases, since the government has taken a hand, and the only inconvenience suffered by those arrested is the confiscation of their stock of booze.
Three Detroit men sacrificed their lives at the altar of alcohol late Thursday when the automobile in which they were returning from Toledo with a cargo of whiskey was wrecked in collision with an interurban car a few miles out of the city.
The government action in the circumstances is based on the "Reed amendment to the bone dry law," which provides heavy penalties for transporting alcoholic liquors into dry territory.
The state legislature is in session and a bill was introduced yesterday by Senator Lewis, intended to plug up the hole in the state prohibition law, but no action can be had for at least ten days, and the rum runners will continue to make hay while the sun shines.

As West Shore Withdraws Complaint on Barley Stealing Charge.
This morning in police court the West Shore Railroad, through its attorney, Amos Van Etten, withdrew the complaint lodged against Louis Roehl, Ralph Norton and Edward Norton, who had been arrested charged with stealing bags of barley from a freight car. The boys were represented in court by A. J. Cook. They were arrested on complaint of Detective Goodell, of the railroad, on information furnished him by one of the boys. It is stated that the railroad possesses laying the case before the grand jury, which was the reason why this charge was not pressed.

WEAR LIKE NEW

"I had Neolin Soles put on my shoes—wore these shoes every day for fifteen months, then had Neolin half-soles put on. They are still in good condition," writes F. T. Evans, of Seattle, Washington.

This is cutting shoe bills down to the minimum through Neolin Soles. Anyone can do this if he will follow Mr. Evans' example, and have his shoes re-bottomed with Neolin Soles. These tough, durable soles cost no more than soles that give only ordinary wear. And all good repair shops have them.

Neolin Soles come on new shoes, too, in many styles for men, women and children. They are created by Science to be all that soles should be—comfortable and water-proof, as well as long-wearing. They are made by The Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co., Akron, Ohio, who also make Wingfoot Heels—guaranteed to outwear any other heels.

310TH INFANTRY IN ARGONNE BATTLE

Captain Card of Company L Writes of Death of Two Water County
Men—The Captain Wounded
Shortly Afterward.

Samuel S. Taber of the town of Lloyd lost two sons in the war in France. His son Walter went from Camp Dix, in Co. L, 310th Infantry. The following letter from the captain of the company tells something of the battles and casualties of the regiment:

Villeneuve, France.

My Dear Mr. Taber—Our chaplain Mr. King, in receipt of a letter from you which he allowed me to read. I was so glad to hear from you because I wanted your address. I just returned from the hospital myself. I was injured in the battle in which your son Walter lost his life. I intended to write you from the hospital but had no way of ascertaining your address. I remember you very well, Mr. Taber, in Camp Dix. It must be a terrible blow to you, and your dear mother to lose two such good, big-hearted noble fellows as I personally know Walter to have been. Corporal Taber was without doubt one of the very best men I had in the company and I had already recommended him for sergeant. He was a man that you could always depend on in an emergency. We went all through St. Michel together. We were constantly under heavy artillery and machine gun fire up there for one month. We had a great many casualties there, but Walter, escaped being injured. He stood up fine under shell fire and was one of the most courageous men in my company. We were relieved in St. Michel the second week in October and arrived in the Argonne on October 15. We crossed the Oise river on the morning of the 16th and relieved the 77th Division in the front line. This sector was subject to very heavy shell fire, and we had orders to go over the top at 2 o'clock in the afternoon in front of the village of St. Juvin. I had my company in a cut along side of a railroad track and was preparing to take my position to go over a little later. We were under direct observation from the German front line and as I said before they were subjecting us to heavy shell fire and seemed to be getting the range more accurate all the time. Your son Walter and Corporal John Livingston lost their lives in this railroad cut just as we were preparing to go over the top. They were hit by a high explosive shell and it was almost a direct hit; they were killed by the concussion made by the explosion of the shell and died instantly. They never knew what happened. I was glad there was no prolonged suffering. I was hit one hour after Walter's death by two fragments of the same kind of a shell. I was in a hospital from Oct. 16 until Dec. 5. Lieutenant Kilmer came over with us but returned to the states in Sept. as an instructor in the training camps there. He was not with the company at the time of Walter's death. The 310th was pretty well used up in the battles in which they were engaged but were not entirely wiped out. They lost about 75 per cent of their original strength. Walter's grave is properly marked. It is the chaplain's duty of each regiment to attend to that and we were lucky enough to have a very good one. I agree with you thoroughly, Mr. Taber in your opinion of letting the boy lie where he fell. I know that would have been his wish. I would be glad to hear from you, Mr. Taber at any time.

Very sincerely,

LEE W. CARD.

Capt. Co. L, 310th Infantry.

Buckwheat cakes—with sausage! Um-m!

Make this wonderful old-time breakfast the easy Aunt Jemima way!

Buckwheat cakes—with sausage! Oh, how that combination does tempt the appetite on a wintry February morning!

Perhaps you've been forgetting how "powerful good" buckwheat cakes really are! Give yourself a treat tomorrow—see what pleasant memories the first taste brings back! Memories of all sorts of healthy outdoor things—hickory smoke curling upward in thin blue wisps—skating on the old pond, coasting down the big hill into drifts of snow—

It's the simplest thing in the world to make buckwheat cakes—if you make them the easy Aunt Jemima way!

All you need is a package of Aunt Jemima Buckwheat Flour—you add nothing but water. Everything necessary to make the best buckwheat cakes you've ever tasted is already mixed in the flour.

Order a package of Aunt Jemima Buckwheat (in the yellow package) from your grocer and give your husband this wonderful old-time breakfast tomorrow! Aunt Jemima Mills Company, St. Joseph, Missouri.

SMALL HAT FASHION'S DECREE

Among the very small hats shown is this purple milan with moire ribbon and roses of the same shade.

MAKE SCARF FROM OLD SHAWL

Despite Ravages of Moths, Grandmother's Pride May Be Made Into Useful and Attractive Garment.

Possibly you are one of those people who got out grandmother's old cashmere shawl which had been packed away in the trunk in the attic for years, writes a correspondent with plans for a wonderful new evening coat, and were delighted to discover that it had been almost riddled by moths. And when you hung it out in the sun for days and got rid of all the pesky little animals and had revealed its gorgeous coloring, and regretted the coat long and hard, you had wrapped it up in tar paper and put it back into the chest for another long period of oblivion.

But here is good news for you. You can use the glorious thing after all. Nothing is more fetching or chic than one of these new scarfs that some fortunate people are using to liven up last year's blue serge or black velvet suit, and they look as if they were designed for just those of us who have only small bits of our old shawls available.

Possibly it wasn't the moths that prevented you from using your shawl. Maybe grandma was a Hooverizer, although she didn't know it, and wore hers till it almost dropped to pieces. Whatever it may have been, get it out and see how many narrow strips you can get from the good parts. Buy a piece of red casimere, that same lovely red that the centers of these shawls were, cut the scarf from it of the desired shape, bind it round the edge with a band two or three inches wide made from the pieces of the shawl, and line it with red crepe de chine, georgette crepe or two harmonizing colors of chiffon, one over the other. It will be so lovely when you get it finished that you will want to make another, and you might make one for mother, using black for the foundation instead of the red lined with black shirred chiffon over red.

NEW SPRING WAIST STYLE

High Waistline to Be Feature of Suit That Will Fit the Figure Snuggly.

A waistline just a trifle above normal is to be the feature of the spring suit, according to present indications. This type of suit is featured especially for young women and women with decidedly youthful figures. Some of the suits promised for spring fit the figure quite snugly to an inch or so above the normal waistline, at which point a flaring skirt of poplin, light length or longer, may be set on. Again the suit coat will be held in by a belt set on just above the normal waistline. The suit with high waisted line in front and no waistline at all at the back is also shown. This is arrived at by a panel arrangement at the back. A very graceful figure silhouette is usually given by this type of coat. Skirts are just about the same as those shown for winter and now being worn.

The perfectly straight-line coat, cut on chemise lines and closely related to the chemise frock, to be worn over a sleeveless blouse or vest in contrasting color and material, is also to be a favorite for spring.

MODISH NOTES

Black velvet circles are silver-lined and tie in a big bow at the side front. Lingerie made of tulle-colored crepe de chine is trimmed with black ribbon.

Narrow belts of black silk braid are seen on many of the serge dresses. Taffeta will be much used for smart sport frocks.

Japanese cotton crepe makes excellent winter frocks for small children. Chubbish, poplin and shark cloth are used for black skirts for winter.

One charming giraffe is composed of small balls of angora on strands of jet. Black crepe de chine is sometimes worn with a vest of rose satin, embroidered in white angora and gold thread.

Any bit of fine linen, provided it is light or nine inches square, can be utilized for charming hand-rolled handkerchiefs.

A kind of plain black moire ribbon can be made into a pretty little neck accessory by adding colored tassels and embroidery on the ends.

Hard to Classify.

KINGSTON, N. Y., FEB. 21, 1915.

Recently in Stroudsburg, Pa., a man with the telltale name of Otto von Bismarck tore down and stamped on the American flag. He was fined and imprisoned, but did not let his deserts. When his term is up he ought to be deported.

It appears that some of our "un-leached" military not only won from the Germans the title of "Blut-Justiz Schwarzmanner" (blood-thirsty black men) but unmercifully trimmed the "unleached" Frenchmen from Morocco playing traps.

Frau Ebert says she is just a plain workman's wife, but Herr Ebert has managed things so that his salary as president of Germany will be $250,000 a year, more than twice as much as President Wilson receives. This in "starving" Germany which assures its conquerors that it can pay no indemnities because it hasn't a red cent.

There is the element of the unexpected in the story that "Tommy" Woodrow Wilson made a hero of Bismarck in an essay he wrote when a young college student. But those were times when we did not yet know that Bismarck deliberately brought on the war of 1871 with France—lines, moreover, when German propaganda was already beginning to pull the wool over our eyes; also "Tommy" often changes his mind even in his more mature years.

THE NINTH AMENDMENT.

Tobacco is revolved resounding blows from reformers who aim to knock the "fragrant weed" out completely by means of a Nineteenth amendment. One writer signing himself an "M. D." is quoted as saying that "tobacco is more injurious than alcohol," unexpectedly giving as his reason that "alcohol came down to us from the Apostles; tobacco from savages up through the slums." The American Indians, who first cultivated the plant, were in large part savage, but Sir Walter Raleigh, who introduced smoking into Europe, would protest that the habit, instead of coming "up through the slums," descended to that level from the politest of royal courts. But we may expect any sort of reasoning, however erratic or puerile, in these hectic times of hurrying reform.

Obviously the abuse of tobacco, like the abuse of anything whatsoever, is injurious, and no doubt the army medical corps can report ill effects of cigarettes demanded by our soldiers when wounded and seriously ill. A British medical officer, who holds that "smoking in moderation is not injurious to men in good health," contends that even convalescents should be moderately indulged, the difficulty being that wounded soldiers want to smoke too much partly in order to pass the time. The Pennsylvania Department of Labor and industry recently investigated 400 cigar makers in Philadelphia constantly exposed to the fumes and dust of the weed and "did not find support" for the claim that such an occupation tends to produce tuberculosis, intestinal disturbances, anemia and nervous condition. The error of the anti-tobacco campaigners is in confusing the results of reckless abuse with moderate use in drawing no distinction between the effect on the healthy and diseased.

WOMEN'S EVENING DRESS.

In England, it is said, "many" women attending jazz dances lately have been astonished by some of the costumes displayed, and others shocked at fancy dress dances by scantiness of attire, especially the ladies who were only lightly adorned pajamas. Doubtless things are not yet come to such a pass in this country, but the club women of New York have made a protest against it they describe as "indecent" and "unbecoming" in the form of a petition to the designers of women's clothing to refrain from the production of extreme models and to wear that is not to wear them. The protest, they say their complaint is not so much against "occasional daring display" as against the habitual wearing of extravagantly clothed women in England resident under law.

has been asked for and the same solution has been suggested for this country. But if the subject of women's apparel, of what they shall or shall not wear, is to get into politics women themselves must be the active campaigners. No mere man, whatever his opinions on this interesting subject, would dare open his mouth—in public. Only women can seriously undertake the reform of feminine dress based on moral or other grounds, and only women voters could bring the matter into legislative halls. A strong woman's movement might achieve reform, but whether a sustained and determined effort of this sort among women will develop remains to be seen.

TUBERCULOSIS SOLDIERS.

Being Aided By State and Federal Governments.

Evidently the names and addresses of many men discharged from military service on account of tuberculosis, and who reside in New York state, have been sent to the State Charities Aid Association's Tuberculosis Committee, for the last issue of the S. C. A. A. News states that such men, outside New York city are being visited for the second time by the staff of four public health nurses of the tuberculosis committee.

The names and addresses of the men have been furnished to the committee by the surgeon general's office at Washington, D. C., through the National Tuberculosis Association. The "News" states that it has been the practice of the committee to report the cases to the local organizations with the request that they furnish such additional service in the way of advice, instruction, assistance, care and treatment as may be necessary to supplement what the local health authorities are providing, such authorities having been previously notified of the cases by the state department of health.

Altogether 511 cases have been reported to the Association's tuberculosis committee by the surgeon general's office, and 50 more have been reported from different sources making a total number of cases in New York state, of more than 550 cases.

For the men who have been located, a great deal of real help has been provided. Some have had arrangements made for their prompt admittance into the state sanatorium at Raybrook or into local tuberculosis institutions; other have been brought under the care of dispensaries and visiting nurses; many of the men have been assisted in making applications for compensation under the War Risk Insurance Act.

THROUGH THE LOOKING-GLASS

By EVELYN NEBBIT.

The unselfish woman of yesterday does not exist today. The woman who would spend her precious Saturday afternoon inside baking cookies and pastries, the woman who would spend her Sunday cooking family dinners, can't be bought for love or money.

Women have discovered that they, too, want to live. You won't find a woman who will toil and spin 24 hours a day and smile at the end of it and say "All's right with the world."

Thank goodness for that! It is a fortunate thing that the entirely unselfish woman no longer exists or that any woman who still is constituted after this fashion is not appreciated these days.

We don't want martyrs in our homes any more. The day of slaves is gone, the woman who still has no time for self-development—which is what the "selfish" women of today are doing—is out of place. The labor-saving household devices were not invented as ornaments. They were invented so that women would use them and have time to become more wonderful and better as a result.

The world is too wide-awake to be able to tolerate a woman who can speak only of how she starches curtains and how she cooks her pot roast tender. The world wants women who read the newspapers, who know something of the progress of science and invention, who take more than a casual peep out their back doors. The unselfish woman who sacrifices herself for her home to such an extent that she cannot develop her mind and soul is a creature of the dark ages. We want the "selfish" women who have learned how to devote the least time to irksome duties and the greatest amount of time to improving their minds and making themselves happy.

HARMONY IN THE WARDROBE

Combinations of Colors May Be Adopted, Enabling Each to Have Own Color Scheme.

Ever since she became old enough to have any serious thoughts about her personal appearance, a certain girl has had a desire for perfect harmony in dress. The combination of a purple dress a red hat and a brown coat, for instance, distressed her.

A scant purse made it impossible for her to purchase a complete new outfit every time one new garment was added to the wardrobe, so she conceived the idea of adopting a color scheme for herself. She chose blue and brown, as these had always been favorite and becoming colors. These colors combine beautifully, never clash, and the combination can be found in materials suitable to all seasons and occasions. After she made up her mind she was never tempted to depart from her rule of purchasing garments in some shade of her adopted colors only, and soon perfect harmony prevailed in her wardrobe.

BEAUTIFUL EVENING GOWN

Blue green is the color of this elegant evening gown. The draped skirt is of chiffon velvet, while the basque-like waist is formed of broadened velvet of the same shade. Large squares of tulle make the sleeves, and there is a touch of silver net at the neck.

2% on Sales 11% on Investment

Isn't this a reasonable profit?

It is what Swift & Company earned in 1918.

2 cents on each dollar of sales—only a fraction of a cent per pound—was too small to have any noticeable effect on prices.

11% on investment (capital and surplus) means only fair returns to the 25,000 shareholders; they received 8% dividends in 1918.

The 1918 earnings of Swift & Company were equivalent to a profit of only

$212 on Sales of $12,000

Would you be content with that margin of profit in your business?

This and many other interesting and instructive facts are shown in our 1919 Year Book, which will be sent on request. Address Swift & Company, Union Stock Yards, Chicago, Illinois.

HERE AND THERE ABOUT THE TOWN

The Stroller Hears That the Reason Aldermen Want to Meet Twice a Month Is to Adopt Theater Ordinance That Will Stand.

Wonder what Mayor Canfield ever did to Alderman Mann's resolution fixing theater licenses? asked the customer, as he paused a minute from his perusal of the day's news in The Freeman.

"Just about what I thought he would do with it," replied the busy barber with a grin, "and that was to veto it."

"I don't remember reading about it in the paper though," said the customer.

"Well it don't come up until the March meeting," explained the barber, "and you will find then that I made a good guess."

"What was the idea of vetoing it?" asked the customer.

"The main reason I guess you will find," explained the barber, "is that a resolution can't over-ride an ordinance, and I think the aldermen realize it by this time."

"Speaking of the aldermen," said the customer, "what do you think of the twice a month proposition?"

"Just what I said the other day," replied the customer, "but take it from me I would not be surprised but Alderman Schick's idea of having two meetings a month was to give them time to frame a theater ordinance, that would stand and not be vetoed by the time next year rolls around."

"I heard a better reason, than that," commented the customer.

"Shoot it," returned the barber.

"Well you see where they want a provision in the revised charter to pay themselves $250 per year. When that goes through, which I doubt, they will vote to pay themselves $10 a meeting and in order to reap the full amount they will have to hold 24 meetings."

"That only makes $240," interrupted the barber.

"Sure," replied the customer, "but they can hold a special meeting, can't they?"

NOW TWO RED CROSS WORKROOMS

But Additional Work Will Require Many Workers To Be Finished on Time.

There are now two well established centers in the city where Red Cross sewing is being done, and with the large amount of work to be accomplished before the first of March, it is hoped that both the sewing headquarters on Broadway and the D. A. R. Chapter House will have many workers out right along now. With the additional work to be done more women workers at the Broadway rooms could accomplish a great deal the remaining days this week, under the efficient supervision of Mrs. Hayes and Mrs. Hicks. Just because a work room has been opened up this no reason for there being any lessening of the work at the Broadway room. What is wanted is all the work possible right now at both places.

Many Women at Chapter House. There was a fine turnout of women at the D. A. R. Chapter House on Wednesday afternoon, Mrs. William S. Elting and Mrs. Benson Miller being in charge. The work was well organized, and in spite of the fact that only three sewing machines were installed, a good deal of sewing was accomplished. Next week the sewing rooms at the Chapter House will be open Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday afternoons, and the five additional machines will be in readiness. A little self sacrifice and special effort on the part of the Kingston women can accomplish wonders at this time in the way of Red Cross work assigned the Ulster County Chapter being done on time.

Miss Mildred Olson a student of the stenographic and touch-typing departments of Spencer's school, has been placed in a satisfactory position as law stenographer and typist with Jenkins and Shufeldt, Warren building, Fair street, this city.

Miss Beatrice Vender, who recently graduated with honors from the shorthand department of Spencer's school has been placed in a good position as stenographer and secretary with W. N. Searles, campaign director, Cortlandt Movement, New York A. C., with offices at St. James M. E. Church, this city. Miss Vender's employer speaks highly of her fitness for the position.

Miss Gertrude E. Schellinger, a student of the stenographic department, has been placed in a temporary position as stenographer and typist with Lawyer John E. Hardenbergh, Rosendale, N. Y.

Miss Lola M. Kitz, an experienced graduate of Spencer's school, has obtained a very satisfactory position as stenographer and assistant with the Ulster and Delaware Railroad Company, this city.

The entrance to the new school building will be at 40 John street, midway between Wall and Fair streets and will be very convenient. The stairways will be made "L" shape and therefore easy to climb. The school office will be on the second floor, and adjoining will be several class rooms and the large business department. An abundance of fresh air and sunlight will be provided. The various windows will be improved and painted with gold letters. The doors at entrance will be double folding with glass panels. When completed Spencer's will have one of the most attractive homes in the country. It will be greatly admired for its beauty. It is expected that contracts for the remodeling of the building will be let soon after March first.

SHIPPERS WANT 3 "SAILING DAYS"

Two Day Plan Criticized At C. of C.

Hearing And New Rate Schedule Is Condemned By Nash.

There were three phases of the shippers conference held Thursday evening by the transportation committee of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce at the rooms of the organization, viz: A discussion of the two-day shipping rule; an explanation of the new scientific freight rate schedule by Charles W. Nash, traffic commissioner of the Albany Chamber of Commerce; and the plea of Special Representative Wolfe of the American Railway Express Company for co-operation of shippers in the company's campaign to promote efficiency in the conduct of its business.

The "Sailing Day" rule now in effect whereby goods for certain points must be delivered at the depot on one of two days a week came in for much criticism from representatives of local firms, which extended to a broad disapproval of the conduct of the roads under the federal railroad administration as having resulted in something like 33 1-3 per cent of pre-war service at a vastly increased cost. The desire was generally expressed for a return to private ownership and methods. Those who explained their grounds for opposing the "Sailing Day" plan in Kingston were F. B. Matthews, R. E. Leighton, Elva H. Bogart, Major Everett and John B. Kearney.

W. M. Tiel, chairman of the Kingston freight committee, for the railroad administration, explained that the plan had been evolved after careful study by experts and in practice had been proved to work out to the advantage of all concerned. He said that it was not yet fully in operation and, in its initial stages was bound to produce some friction and misunderstanding until shippers could adapt their methods to conform to it. He pleaded for a fair trial before passing judgment.

Mr. Nash, the Albany traffic expert, sketched the history of freight rates from the time the government took over control of the roads, the raises that had been put into effect, the first revolving fund of half a billion dollars secured by Mr. McAdoo, the subsequent deficit, and the request of Mr. Hines, the present administrator, for an additional $750,000,000.

The new freight rates which are put forward as a scientific revision, he said, were in reality an abrupt increase, amounting on the average to about 33 1-3 per cent throughout the east. As they affect Kingston, the increases, especially on first, second and third class commodities, amount in many cases to fifty per cent or more to some points, such as Albany and Highland.

Mr. Nash believed that the railway service has gone to pieces because of inefficiency caused by lack of competition. Special Agent Wolfe outlined the work now being done by the American Railway Express Company throughout the nation to eliminate waste and loss of goods, due in large measure to improper packing, insufficient or confusing addresses, etc., substantially as has been published in the press.

A petition was offered by Chairman Niles and ordered presented to the proper authorities, requesting the railway administration to give Kingston three "Sailing days" each week on less carload shipments and those who do not pass through transfer points. It was signed by several of the largest jobbers of the city and other signatures will be obtained.

To Remove Varnish Stains.
To remove varnish stains, first wet the spots with alcohol two or three times, then rub with a clean cloth. If the color is injured, sponge afterward with chloroform to restore it, unless the color is blue, in which case vinegar should be used instead.

Intentions Count for Little.
To be always intending to live a new life, but never to find time to set about it, is as if a man should put off eating and drinking and sleeping from one day and night to another, till he is starved and destroyed.—Tillotson.

How Man's Strength Fluctuates.
The strength of males increases rapidly from twelve to nineteen years, and more slowly and regularly up to thirty years, after which it declines. The strength of females increases at a more uniform rate from nine to nineteen years, more slowly to thirty, after which it falls off.

WILL LIVE FOREVER

Glory Won by American Marines Imperishable.

Famous Prussian Guard Fled Before Them at Chateau-Thierry as Sheep Before Wolves, and World Was Saved.

From Arbel to Argonne; from the day when Alexander's phalanx bore down the Persian lines to the day when the American marines scattered the best of Germany like smoke, the imperial guard of mighty sovereigns has been the keystone, the central fabric, the very basis of military power. Destroy the guard and the morale of every royal army vanishes like mist before the sun.

Fierce was the fighting on Arbel's plain, and vain the onsets of the Macedonians until the Persian guard gave way—and night saw the Persian empire in the young invader's hands. Spain's restless infantry shook the earth till the Spanish guard was mown down by Conde at Rocroy.

At Austerlitz the Russian ranks held fast till the czar's gigantic guards were cut through and scattered. And the soldiers at Waterloo, outflanked, outnumbered, would not yield till the guard gave back upon the fatal slope of Mont St. Jean. So went the story through the ages—and the last chapter of imperial guards and guardsmen's glory is a fitting epitome.

Down through the ravaged fields of France came the imperial guard of Prussia, and the wearied, worn-out men of France gave ground in grim despair. The guard was coming. The guard was conquering. Paris in a few more hours, and victory—a Prussian peace, won by William's matchless guards.

Then, across the wheat fields and hills, came the American marines—young fighting devildogs from overseas. What to them was the glory of the guard? What cared they for the tall, imposing figures, the uniforms, the machine-like advance of William's incomparables? The American marines went into a sheepfold—and the fate of all the world hung in the trembling balance as the struggle raged.

"We saw a few black dots break from the guard and struggle down the hill; then a dark blot on the hillside; then the guard reeled and its whole great mass came staggering down. All is lost—the guard recoils." So spoke the historians who watched at Waterloo.

So it was at Chateau-Thierry. First a few gray dots broke from the far side of the wood; then more and more; then, panic stricken, reeling, whipped, the Prussian guard came madly out and onward and away. The guard recoiled—the day was lost—Germany was lost—the empire of the world was lost.

When the guard breaks, the doom of any king is sealed. It was so three thousand years ago; and what may be the last tale of the wreckage of an imperial guard is but the final confirmation of the old, old story.

In French and in English. An amusing verbal war has arisen over the propriety, meaning and extent of the French phrase "mon Dieu!" No two interpreters appear to be able to agree. The phrase in English would be "my God!" but the shades of association, connected with the French form and with the English form differ so broadly that exactly equivalent expressions and usages of the phrase are difficult to reach. In French it may be an innocent exclamation; but in English-speaking lands it may be flat blasphemy. The variance seems to spring from the varying religious experiences of France and England after the Protestant reformation. In medieval Europe the presence and action of God in the religious plays habituated the populace to speak of him quite familiarly, and the sense of reverence for his name grew faint. In England, however, on account of the influence of Puritanism and then of Methodism, a great reverence for his name arose, and use of the term "my God!" became distasteful to fine natures. But "mon Dieu!" somehow sounds inoffensive. —Spokane Spokesman Review.

A Different Vocation.

Alderman Louis E. Anderson, who is endowed with a keen sense of humor, can as a rule be depended upon to bring out the latest story finding favor among "the brethren."

A story handed to Alderman Anderson by some of the boys concerns Sam Jones, who stood 6 feet 4 inches in his stocking feet and was in training at one of the southern camps. One day the officers undertook the organization of a regimental band.

"Anybody here a bugler?" asked the company commander.

Sam stepped forward three paces.

"Play a few notes to show us how good a bugler you are," was the next direction.

"Buh-lah!" exclaimed the astonished Sam. "Tee oo buh-lah. I thought you said buh-lah!" —Chicago American.

The Strasbourg Clock.

A correspondent writes that it is not at every hour that the procession of the twelve apostles makes the round of the famous clock at Strasbourg, says a London paper. That takes place only at midday by middle European time. The quarters of each hour are struck by the figures of a child, a young man, an adult man, and an old man in their order, while an effigy of Death appears and strikes each full hour. Many marvellous astronomical phenomena are also shown on the clock, which automatically regulates itself at midnight on the last day of each year. It is not generally known, by the way, that a model of this unique timepiece can be seen any day by Londoners in the Horniman museum at Forest Hill.

Gas as Fuel.

Experiments in England with ordinary producer gas as a fuel for internal combustion engines has shown that as the size and power of the engine increase the loss on producer gas diminishes. The fact that coal gas, although of lower calorific value than gasoline, gives better results, is so counted for by the pressure of the gas in the bag, which delivers this fuel to the engine with little or no "back pull."

Adaptability.

"You need to be something of a singer," "Tex" replied Uncle Ben Bottleson. "An prohibition won't stop me. I'm learning to warble 'The Old Oaken Bucket' instead of 'Langford, Fill the Flying Bowl.'"

RESUME BUILDING URGES GOVERNOR

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Albany, N. Y., Feb. 21.—Governor Smith issued a proclamation today urging the municipalities of the state to resume building operations which ceased with the entry of the United States into the war. The proclamation follows:

"During the period of the war many municipalities of the state engaged in operations upon public works of all kinds and descriptions. It was regarded as a patriotic act so to do in order that men and material might not be diverted from the urgent purposes of the government.

"The government has released labor and raw material; transportation has improved. There ought, therefore, to be no lack of a disposition to act and to take up where war forced us to leave off the construction of necessary public improvements. I, therefore, urge upon the civil divisions of the state to proceed as rapidly with their public works as their funds will permit to the end that labor may be employed and business stimulated and the returning soldiers and our people generally, guaranteed some of the blessings of

COUNCIL OF TEN RESUMES WORK

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Paris, Feb. 21.—The council of ten—representatives of the United States, France, Great Britain, Italy and Japan—resumed their duties today which were temporarily interrupted by the attack on Premier Clemenceau's report.

A report on the new military and naval terms for Germany will be made to the big five within a few days by Marshal Foch. The British are said to be relying upon disarmament of Germany to guarantee France's safety but England and probably the United States will be ready to keep men under arms to secure the safety of France and to be ready for any emergency.

It was not until the end of the seventeenth century that the Venetian gondola assumed its present simplicity and sameness of color. A vain attempt has been made to introduce it in other countries, but it has apparently resisted all efforts at acclimatization.

A MOTHER'S STRENGTH

Mother, whose hands rock the cradle, often needs more than ordinary food to help maintain the blood-quality and strength and to assure adequate nourishment to the child. It is as unwise for the mother, as it is dangerous to the child, to place dependence upon alcoholic stimulation, for strength is not found in alcohol.

SCOTT'S EMULSION

of purest cod-liver oil, absolutely free from alcohol, is mother's true friend, in that it performs a two-fold duty. Scott's is tonic-nourishment, particularly fitted for the trying period of motherhood.

MORAN BUSINESS SCHOOL NOTES

Further evidence of the effectiveness of Moran training is contained in the following list of excellent positions accepted by a number of exceptionally bright and efficient young people who received their special preparation at the Moran Business School, Burgevin Building:

Miss Kathryn Dempsey, who was graduated a few weeks ago, has obtained a high-grade position as stenographic clerk in the General Sales Department, Library Bureau, 215 Broadway, New York city.

Miss Rhoda Sticker, who recently completed the stenographic course, has accepted a very satisfactory position with Attorney George F. Kaufman, John Street, Saugerties, N. Y.

Competent business assistants were recently supplied for temporary service at Red Cross Headquarters, Broadway, and in the office of Attorney Amos Van Etten, Fair Street.

The Royal System Coffee Company, 75 Front Street, New York city, has engaged Miss Florence Granchere, of Saugerties, as stenographer and typist. Miss Granchere passed her final examinations a short time ago.

Miss Anna F. Reilly, an experienced graduate of the Moran School, has secured an excellent office position with Pardee's Insurance Agency, 6 Broadway, this city.

John S. Sammon, who after completing the bookkeeping course, obtained a position as bookkeeper in the Mechanics Bank, Brooklyn, called at the school to renew friendships last week. He is meeting with well merited success, having been promoted to head bookkeeper in the bank.

The Remington Typewriter Company has awarded certificates of proficiency to several students in the department of touch typewriting. Diplomas were also awarded by the A. N. Palmer Company to students in the department of business writing.

Incident Recreated by Maxim Gorky Reveals Frightful Conditions in the Great Russian Capital.

Maxim Gorky has written several sketches of human interest bearing on events in the Russian revolution, which appear in a recent number of the Sundstedschen Monatshefte. Among them the following adventure of a young woman in the streets of Petrograd late at night, written in Gorky's characteristic style:

A young woman tells me: "I was with my sick sister until late and left her at midnight to go home, just when all the lights in the streets were extinguished. The streets were dark and ghostly figures stood in doorways—one could not tell whether they were watchmen or robbers. As I hurried along I suddenly heard heavy steps behind me. I looked around fearfully. A man in military uniform, slender and with pale face and hollow eyes, was following me."

"There was nobody else in sight and no signs of a cab. The man continued following me like fate. My God, I thought, is he going to rob me or, perhaps, do something even worse? I took my gold bracelets from my arms and hid them in folds of my dress. He approached me, and in a soft, sad, musical voice, said:

"Madam, 'I made no reply, but hurried on. He, however, kept pace beside me. 'You are afraid of me?' 'Leave me, leave me!' I cried. 'He laughed a forced, tragic laugh and said:

"Don't you see I simply want to ask for alms? I have not had a bite to eat in two days. I am an officer and a respectable man. But, by God! if I don't get anything to eat I will not be responsible for myself. Help me, I know you can."

"I looked steadily at him now. Never will I forget those hollow, hungry eyes and the teeth showing under a small black mustache. I opened my purse and put some money in his extended palm."

"But where are you going to get something to eat at this time of the night? I said. 'All stores and shops are closed. Come with me and I will prepare some coffee for you. I also have some bread.'"

"He shook his head. 'No,' he said sadly. 'I cannot do that. I want no one ever to know.' 'He bowed gracefully and stepped back."

"And what will you do for food when this little money is spent? What will you do tomorrow?"

"I thank you, Pardon me—oh, tomorrow? Tomorrow!"

"He kept on repeating the word as he left me, and soon his figure was like a ghost disappearing into the darkness of a tomb."

Canadians and the Arctic. Vilhjorð Stefánsson is a Canadian explorer. He is of Icelandic descent, born in Manitoba. His name does not appear in the exploration records of any "who's who" published in Canada. He is known to most people as the man who discovered the North Pole. But this was the least achievement, says the Canadian Geographer. What Stefánsson and Captain Bernier, Canadians, have done most of all is to demonstrate that Canada has an independent original claim to the fruits of exploration in her own share of the Arctic. Canada has the world's record for Arctic conquest. Russia and Scandinavia have all that Canada has not. Canada's right of eminent domain in the Arctic is marked by the British flag; and if his advice is followed by the government, trade may follow the flag, even in the Arctic. When we come to commercializing the minkers the Peace River valley will have become the middle of Canada.

BLESS THAT STOVE

BY JUNE L. JOHNSON.

(Copyright, 1919, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

"Now, mummer, don't worry. We'll get along all right. Give my love to Cousin Sue and tell her I hope she'll soon be better. And don't tire yourself out caring for her. Yes, I'll remember to feed the cat, and that Bob, is fond of pudding, and that the iceman comes on Thursday, and—mummer, do hurry or you'll miss your train!"

With a gay wave of her hand, Margery S. watched her mother out of sight, and then went into the house. A whole week of housekeeping by herself! Margery actually hugged herself as she thought. Wouldn't she prepare the greatest feast for father and Bob? She'd make their mouths water!

"Let's see, what time is it now?" mused Margery, slipping into a kimono—apron that enveloped her from head to foot. "Quarter to five. Time to get supper ready. I guess I'll have potatoes and salmon—and—oh! isn't it glorious to be a housekeeper!" And Margery whisked around the room to get rid of some of her bottled-up delight.

It was the second day of Radford H.'s furlough. As he disconsolately wandered about the town he wondered gloomily what to do with the time on his hands. Suddenly something happened!

He was starting up a new street, when out of the corner house a vision in blue and white, with flying brown curls, came dashing into his arms, so it seemed.

"Oh, Tom!" breathed the vision, who by this time had taken the shape of a very pretty, very excited young girl, "do come in and see if you can fix our kitchen range! The old thing won't—oh—I beg your pardon!" And the girl backed away in great confusion and astonishment.

"I say, what's the matter?" exclaimed Radford, regaining his breath, and finding out that he liked this rather extraordinary proceeding than otherwise.

"Oh, please excuse me," stammered Margery. "I thought you were Tom R.—one of our neighbors! He's a sailor, too, and you look exactly like him."

"I'm sorry I disappointed you," returned Radford with an amused smile. "You seem to be in trouble. Pardon me, but can't I assist you?"

"If you don't mind," dimpled Margery. "I would like you to see if you could fix the old thing."

Ten minutes later a flushed Radford with a smudgy face straightened up from over the stove and announced cheerily to Margery: "It's all right now. It was only clogged up. You can use it."

With a relieved sigh Margery dropped into a chair. "How can I ever thank you?" she said. "I never could have fixed it myself, and I should have had to wait until father came home, or Bob. Oh, don't you want to wash your face?"—jumping up—"It's rather dirty."

"I think you said when you came in that you had no particular place to go," began Margery. "Would you—she gazed at her own boldness, but bravely finished—"care to stay—for supper—with father, Bob and me?"

Egg beaters, spoons, cake tins, sifters and such were very much in evidence during the next half-hour, while a very pink-cheeked Margery and Radford, with an apron on, too, hurried back and forth, both chatting merrily as they worked.

Imagine Mr. S.'s and Bob's surprise when they came home that evening to be met at the door by a radiant Margery flourishing an egg beater, while behind her loomed a tall, good-looking sailor, with a broad grin on his ruddy face.

"Folks," began Margery excitedly, "please meet—"

But she never finished, for with one leap Bob S. reached the side of Radford, and exclamations such as these issued from the eager lips of the two young men:

"Great Scott! You here? Why, I thought I'd lost track of you forever! How the world!"

"Why didn't you tell me you lived in this district? I'd been up here yesterday, first thing! Boy, but it's good to see a familiar face!"

With eyes wide open, Margery stared at the excited two, who were shaking hands vigorously, and pumping each other on the back. Had they gone crazy? But Radford settled her doubts by explaining to her with twinkling eyes: "It's my turn to introduce, Miss S. Your brother Bob and I are old friends; we roomed together in college, and we haven't seen each other since graduation."

That night the little party gathered around the supper table. After a merry evening, Radford departed, but not until he had left behind him promises to return and talk over again the college days with Bob.

True to his promises, Radford did come often and was cordially greeted by the S. family.

Maybe I'm a little suspicious—but it seemed as if college was not the only topic of conversation and that Bob was not the only one who conversed with Radford, most of the time.

Anyway, when Radford's furlough was ended he left behind him a very precious promise and a sparkling solitaire on a certain somebody's left hand. And many times on board ship Radford's fellow sailors often heard him murmur: "Bless that kitchen stove!"

PLAGUE MADE DIRE RECORD

Reasonable Grounds for Estimating That Influenza Has Cost the Lives of Six Million Persons.

Though estimates of deaths over the whole world from any single epidemic are very difficult to form, there seem to be reasonable grounds for believing that some 6,000,000 persons have perished of influenza and pneumonia during the last comparatively few weeks.

Business has been interfered with by the epidemic in every country in the world, and enormous losses both in earning power and in trade have been suffered. The cost of the "influenza war" cannot be reckoned, but that it is colossal does not admit of doubt.

This plague, then, generally regarded with equanimity, is, it would seem, five times more deadly than war. It has been estimated that the war caused the death of 20,000,000 persons in four and one-half years; writes a physician in the London Times. In the same period at its epidemic rate influenza would have killed 100,000,000.

Visits of the madding Goliath to London were but as a summer shower compared with the deluge of germs which we have just received. The air raids cost London some hundreds of lives; the influenza has cost it upwards of 10,000.

Never since the black death has such a plague swept over the face of the world; never, perhaps, has a plague been more silently accepted. In India alone over 3,000,000 deaths occurred. Bombay had 15,000 of these; Delhi, with a population of 200,000, had 500 deaths a day. The Punjab lost 250,000 persons. South Africa suffered no less severely. In Cape Town 2,000 children were left destitute as a result of the disease, while the plague swept through the native areas like fire.

The commonwealth of Australia sent a ship to Samoa with help because the disease was affecting 80 per cent of the natives. The white population were only able to feed the living and bury the dead. In New Zealand public services were stopped and business greatly disorganized. The ravages in America have been appalling, not less in Canada, where the epidemic was first reported.

In Ontario and the western provinces no fewer than 108 doctors died of the epidemic, while the total death rate in Ontario alone was 5,600 up to November. A large number of American Indians have perished, Europe as a whole has suffered in the same way. In Spain the epidemic was described as "truly awful." In Barcelona the death rate was credibly stated to be 1,200 daily. France has had her share. Likewise Germany and Austria.

Watch 'Em Grow!

Great oaks from little acorns grow. From little down they've all said that. But now they're saying something else. Which knocks all other sayings flat. I heard it down in Tarrytown. I heard it up in Rome, N. Y. "War Savings Stamps come easily. If first a Thrift Stamp you will buy!"

The Great Bell at Metz. As for Metz, there was a sound in the fortress town which dominated all others. La Mute, the great cathedral bell, pealed forth victory and deliverance. She rang the knell of the town in 1870, when the Prussians came marching through her streets, and ever since every child has known that if deliverance came, then would La Mute be heard ringing Lorraine back to France. For over 400 years La Mute has rung for all the joys and sorrows of the Meuses, for she is the last of a long line of famous bells cast in the Meuse of medieval France.—Christian Science Monitor.

SOCIETY, NOTES.

Murray-McDowell.

St. John's Episcopal Church, Ellenville, was the scene of a very beautiful wedding on Thursday, February 20, at 12 o'clock, when the marriage of Gladys McDowell, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John McDowell of South Market street, and Clon Boies Murray, son of Mr. and Mrs. Murray of Kingston, took place. This church has been the scene of many weddings but none more beautiful than this one on a day so delightful in the mid-winter season. The church decorations and the entertainments were a fit setting for the rainbow wedding carried out to perfection, when the hearts of two of the popular young people of Ellenville were united and made one. Seats in the church were reserved for the guests which included relatives and friends. At 11 o'clock the ushers, Messrs. John W. Ewing, Rollin W. Thompson, John Cushman, Harry Schrick, George Kaufman and Tut Hill McDowell, in the conventional black, a bride rose in lapel of coat, wearing gray gloves, took their places in the church and seated the guests. At 11:30 Frank J. Campbell took his place at the organ and rendered very entrancing musical selections until the clock in the church steeple sounded twelve, the appointed hour, when a hush fell upon the awaiting assembly and the first strains of the wedding march were heard announcing the coming of the bride party. The six ushers were in the lead, followed by the six bridesmaids, the Misses Margaret DeVany and Hilda Myers, in very beautiful gowns of tulle pastels shades, orchid and yellow; Thelma McDowell and Ella DeVany, in gowns of green and pale rose; Delta Bolce and Mae Van Deusen, in gowns of blue and orange, all wearing plumed hats to match the costume worn and carried corsage bouquets of various colors, and all were charming. In their exquisite gowns and hats, the maid of honor, Miss Beatrice Boice, of Bayonne, N. J., followed; she wore a beautiful gown of orchid pink, hat to match, carried a large bouquet of sweet peas tied with orchid ribbon streamers. Then followed sweet little Betty Rapp, daughter of Mrs. J. W. Rapp, as flower girl, wearing a dainty gown of pink silk and white lace, also cap to match and carried a basket of sweet peas with long streamers. Following came the bride, very beautiful, wearing an exquisite gown of white bridal satin, train, which had for its trimming pearl ornaments which were worn on the gown of the groom's mother, Mrs. Murray, on her wedding day. A veil of tulle was worn by the bride which was fastened about her head by a pearl bandeau; she carried a large bouquet of bride roses. She was accompanied by her father, who like the ushers, wore the conventional black. The wedding party was met at the church rail by the Rev. H. P. Hobson, D. D., the groom and the groomsmen, Albert Conet, of Bayonne, N. J. The groom wore the conventional black while the groomsmen was in military uniform, that of the navy. The bride was given in marriage by her father, and Dr. Hobson performed the double ring marriage service of the Episcopal Church and they proceeded to the altar above the chancel, where they were pronounced man and wife with the ceremony blessing. Following the church service a reception was held at the bride's home, which was beautiful in its decorations of mountain laurel, ground pine, handsome ferns, palms and carnations, which had been supervised by Charles G. A. Fischer of Ellenville. After receiving congratulations the bride and groom with their attendants occupied seats at the bride's table at which were seated twelve. The table was pink and white with a large basket of pink carnations for a centerpiece. The guests to the number of one hundred occupied small tables about the home. An elaborate dinner was served by Miss Kenney of Willyek Inn, Kingston. Following the dinner the bride and groom left by auto on a wedding trip known only to themselves. The bride's going-away gown was a blue serge, hat of blue georgette and rose poinsette and a short beaver coat. Upon the return of Mr. and Mrs. Murray they are to reside at Knoll Acres, where they will be at home to friends. Many beautiful gowns were worn at the wedding. The mother of the bride wore a handsome gown of black satin while the groom's mother wore blue satin. The bride is one of the popular young ladies; a graduate of the Ellenville schools, class of 1916; a young lady of very sweet, charming manner, loved by a large circle of friends. The groom was born at Kingston, where he grew to young manhood; educated in the city schools, and then took up the study of law, coming to Ellenville about five years ago, where he has since resided, and has his law office in the bank building on Canal street. He has entered into the village life and has won for himself a host of friends, who extend to him and his charming bride very hearty congratulations, with best wishes for a long, happy, prosperous life together, blessed with health. The groom's parents and several relatives and friends from Kingston were in attendance at the wedding; also Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Thompson of Deposit.

Miss Hilda Myers of Accord. The gifts to the young people were many and very beautiful. Included were checks, silver, china, cut glass, linen, pictures, brass articles, etc., attesting true friendship of relatives and friends. The bride's gift to her attendants were the beautiful hats worn and the groom's gift to groomsmen and ushers were gold stick pins with diamond setting. It has often been said, what is so rare as a day in June, but the beautiful weather that crowned the February wedding day of Mr. and Mrs. Clon B. Murray will be recalled in the years to come.

Our Saturday Sale this week is another sample of the manner in which we can be of assistance to families in which every dollar spent must do its utmost duty. The arrival of home-dressed pork, of which we cut up more than any other market in Kingston, assists materially in lessening the burdens of the poorer households. It also helps us to set up a more appetizing feast of specials for Saturday than would otherwise be possible. It has stirred up the employees in our wurst-making department to the making of Pork Sausage, Liverwurst and Headcheese, for which products the demand is already phenomenal.

GOT THROUGH TO WHITTLESEY, BUT HE WAS SCARED

Delehanthy Sent to Support Famous Lost Battalion.

IS GIVEN PERILOUS MISSION

Former New York Architect Takes 177 Yanks, Leads Way in Dark Along Railway Track and Obtain Information of Great Importance to Americans, Which Later Got Whittlesey Out of His Death Ravine.

How Capt. Bradley Delehanthy of the Three Hundred and Eighth "got through to Whittlesey" when that famous battalion commander was cut off in the Argonne forest is a story that ranks with the heroic defense of Whittlesey itself.

Lake Whittlesey, Delehanthy is a city man, a New Yorker. He is a dapper little architect. But he comes of fighting blood. He is a son of the late Capt. Daniel Delehanthy of the navy, who hopped down from the bridge of his gunboat off Malanzas, Cuba, in 1898 and himself pointed the gun that sent the last Spanish flag toppling off the battlements of the old forts there. He is a nephew of Supreme Court Justice Francis B. Delehanthy of New York.

Before the war he had studied in Paris, so when he arrived in France his knowledge of the language soon landed him on the regimental staff as intelligence officer.

But during that fierce month of fighting up through the gun-blazed Argonne, as Delehanthy says, revering to the navy "it was a case of all hands and the cook" and so it was that on the night of this particular exploit he was in command of a company of the Three Hundred and Eighth Infantry of the Seventy-seventh division, the draft division of New York city.

Delehanthy Ordered Up. Whittlesey in command of his immortal battalion was leading the advance. With his grim jaw set and his shoulders hunched he was forming the tough spearhead of the American advance to the west of the Meuse. He had got orders to go ahead and he had done it. He had done it better than anyone thought he could—and he had been surrounded. A dozen ineffectual attempts had been made to pierce the screen of German machine guns and trench mortars that had filtered in behind him. When night fell the column of the Three Hundred and Eighth sent for Delehanthy.

"Go up to the support," he said. "Take command of K company and get into touch with Whittlesey. We're getting nothing but a pigeon message from him now."

"It's tough country, that Argonne," Delehanthy told the story later. "It's hard country to get through in the daytime. It's worse at night. And when I got up to K company, machine gun bullets were flying like locusts, and whizz-bangs out of those trench mortars were dropping over every 30 seconds and blowing holes to smithereens when they hit. I sent out half a dozen runners. But none of them ever came back. Finally I sent out two whole patrols with orders to reach Whittlesey by different routes. Then I reported to the colonel. Anything else meant moving the whole company, and I had to ask him about that."

"Then every half hour or so he'd call on the telephone and ask me if I'd heard from those patrols. Finally, about midnight, he couldn't stand it any longer."

Delehanthy Got There.

"Delehanthy," he said, "you've got a hundred and seventy-seven men there with you. You take them all. You go up through the woods until you connect with Whittlesey and you keep at it until you do get him if you only have seven men left when you get there."

And Delehanthy got there—not with seven but with the whole hundred and seventy-seven. But he frankly admits he was scared.

"Well," he said turning with a grin to Lieutenant Scott, General Scott's son, who was with him. "This is good, by old kid."

"Yeah," replied Scott. "It looks like good."

Delehanthy called the company round him. He told them what the orders were. Not a man flinched. "There's one chance of getting up there," said the young captain.

"If we go through the woods we'll get lost and shot. But there's a railroad track running up that way. If we follow that we may get shot—but we won't get lost. It's single file and every man keep a hand on the man ahead of him. Come on."

And Delehanthy led the file. A tiny mole compass gave him the direction. The railroad embankment had been shelled and was unobscured for hours. By a strange streak of luck the Roche had decided to let it alone for a few minutes. And K company sneaked up that track between bursts, the whole lot of them.

Suddenly Delehanthy jumped into something.

It was Whittlesey's battalion. "Holy smoke," he cried. "I didn't know you were this close."

"Sh! Sh!" rasped the quick answer.

"The Roche is there and there and there. He'll hear you." And he might have said that, for the noise had leaked through the single gap in the Roche line. But they had escaped. Whittlesey met with Whittlesey.

THE UP-TO-DATE CLOAK MFG. COMPANY

found upon him a lot of the whole neighboring woods drove up to the last minute. It revealed the whole problem that the Americans had been fighting for days to solve in the dark. Delehanthy was the regimental intelligence officer. He sent this message back to the colonel.

"Have information of great importance. Shall I remain command K company or return? Am with Whittlesey."

And the answer came back:

"Return."

So that is why Delehanthy happened not to be with the Whittlesey battalion the next night when they were cut off for good and when they started out for nearly a whole week. But the map he brought back from that dead German officer was the map that enabled the American brigade finally to smash through to the ravine where Whittlesey's men were fighting and dying. Incidentally, it was the map that helped the Americans too, to go far beyond. It was his nerve that took him through for the last connection with Whittlesey. It was his appreciation of the information he happened on that sent him back again over the perilous trail, and it was that information that eventually got Whittlesey out of his death ravine.

"Delehanthy," they say in the Seventy-seventh, "went through."

NOTHING IS WORTHLESS

It is Said That Even Rotten Eggs Attract Wild Animals.

"That ain't nothin' in the world but is good for somethin'" is one of the favorite sayings of Jim Buckley of Bear Lake, Alberta.

Buckley is a thrifty soul. He farms in summer and traps in winter and between wheat and furs he is growing rich. One morning while his wife was cooking breakfast the boy's a rotten egg into a skillet and was starting toward the door to throw it away when Buckley stopped her.

"Woman, don't throw that egg away," said Buckley.

"But it's rotten," protested his wife.

"Makes no difference," declared the philosopher. "That ain't nothin' in the world but—"

"James Buckley," exclaimed his wife, "I've heard that a thousand times."

The wolf never sniffs at the doors of the prosperous farmers of the Peace river country. But furs are different animals and—here is something you don't know—rotten eggs are rated as an epicurean tidbit in vulpine menus.

FINDS LIQUOR IN TRUNK

Kansas City Woman is Now Suing Terminal Company for Damages. Mrs. Olive Sterling of Kansas City packed her steamer trunk with delicacies and had it taken to the depot where she checked it to Charleston, W. Va., where she intended paying relatives a visit. On her arrival there, instead of her fine lingerie, dainty dresses, etc., she found 150 pint bottles of booze, evidently destined for an Oklahoma bootlegger. She will bring suit against the Kansas City Terminal company for damages as a result of the mix-up.

Barquets Six Canaries. Six canary birds were the guests at a banquet given in a Pittsburgh hotel on New Year's eve by Miss Kettle Gulliole, an aged employee of the hotel. One More Great Diamond. Since Captain Wells picked up the 20-carat crystal on Tom Collins' field in the Transvaal in 1905, the Cullinan diamond weighing 3,023.68 grains uncut, there has been no new addition to the roll of the world's big diamonds until the just reported finding of a 385.4 carat stone at the Jagersfontein mine on Orange river. This is a true "Jager" in the language of the trade, a soft blue-white, and said to be nearly perfect. What cutting will do with it can hardly be guessed. In cut form the weight of historic diamonds, bearing the Cullinan, ranges up from the far-famed Keldooner, 100.7 carats, to the Nizam, 277 carats. The Jagger is 229, the Victoria 283.4, the Regent 410.
